Sara Stokes
From backstage to skincare pioneer

The woman behind SKN TO SKN is rewriting the rules of pregnancy skincare.

Sara Stokes didn't begin her career in beauty. For 15 years, she thrived in the music industry, working alongside legendary acts like U2 and Arctic Monkeys. From artist management to major event marketing, she loved nothing more than bringing ideas to life. But it was during her first pregnancy that a new idea began to take root – one that would eventually transform her career and shake up the skincare world.

Two years later, during her second pregnancy, she faced the same challenge. Realising that nine out of ten pregnant women were likely using unsuitable products without knowing, Sara decided it was time to act. With the support of her husband, she began exploring funding and
